Mayor Cone Is Not Seeking Re-election

J. Gilbert Cone announced this week that he is not a candidate to succeed himself as mayor of the city of Statesboro in the city election to be held on Friday, December 5.

Mr. Cone stated that his personal business needs his attention more than ever since having acquired another business.

In making his announcement he said, "I consider it a privilege and a pleasure to have served the citizens of Statesboro these past 15 years; nine as a member of the city council and six as mayor."

He added that during the years he has served as mayor, "I've had the undivided cooperation of the members of the city council. We've worked in harmony at all times, and it is they who deserve the credit for the accomplishments in the last few years."

Mayor Cone reviewed the accomplishments of his administration for the past six years as he announced that he is not a candidate for reelection. He said:

"Since 1946, 7.4 miles of paving has been done in Statesboro to bring total paved streets now to 12.5 miles, not including the construction now under way including three city blocks on Walnut street (from Cherry to Proctor)."

"Since 1946 the present administration has paved five blocks of alley behind East and South Main streets, at present four blocks behind North and West Main streets are being paved."

"Prior to 1946 the city had 32,570 feet of water mains. Since that date we have laid 3,560 feet of water mains and 19,460 feet of sewer mains have been installed to a present total of 60,530 feet."

LESTER-WHITE

The Statesboro Methodist Parsonage was the scene Friday evening at nine o'clock of the marriage of Miss Tallulah Lester, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mack Lester, and Mr. and Mrs. White, of Hartsville, Virginia.

Rev. Frederick Wilson read the vows.

The living room of the parsonage was decorated with cut flowers. Palm and tall branched candelabra in front of the fireplace formed the background for the nuptials.

Mrs. Zack Henderson furnished a medley of wedding music.

Miss Catherine Lester, only sister of the bride, served as maid of honor. Miss Lester wore a navy suit and her corsage was of white carnations.

The bride was lovely in her suit of Capri blue with navy accessories. Her bouquet was of pink roses.

An informal reception was held at the home of the bride's parents on Broad street. White chrysanthemums and other fall flowers were used in the decorations. The bride's table, lace covered, was centered with the wedding cake topped by a miniature bride and groom. Silver candelabra which were placed at one end of the table. Mrs. Dan Lester cut the wedding cake which was served with ice cream.

The bride is at present teaching in the school at Pooler. Mr. White was recently released from service, having been stationed in California.

Mr. and Mrs. White will reside in Pooler.

Marty celebrated his fourth birthday Saturday, November 1, in the hospital. A birthday party in the hospital is not as nice as it could be unless your little friends remember you with two birthdays. Marty was born on the road to recovery. According to his doctors, Marty will have to remain in bed for two weeks longer without seeing his little friends.

SOCIETY

ALL'S FAIR

Hallowe'en, goblins and funny faces, turkey supper and pony races... Queen of the Mardi Gras, Jo Attaway, and Henry Smith, her senior king... Were greeted by street maskers who cleared the way for the Royal Ring.

Then Harville Hendricks, the dashing M.C. had for his heralds, Nicky Brown and Tommy Singletary... French dolls, toy soldiers, and jesters gave the whole affair a wonderful climax for Hallowe'en Day.

AND NOW for the Home of The Week. This is Future Homemakers' Week and it's an opportunity to take you to the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Brown Jr., newly finished and occupied by Buster and Mary Anne and their two children, Ed and Betty.

The home is located on Tillman and South College street. First, it was a house under construction, now it is a home, a brick one. Buster met us on the porch, and he and other workmen were raising a tall antenna for the new television set, and he started our tour from the side and rear of the house, which is paved from the carport at the side and all across the back where it gains depth from a skating area for the children and comes between the den and the kitchen to form a small patio. Ed and Betty could easily arrange scooter races on this spacious drive.

We entered by way of the den, where the walls are red, it's cozy, with wide, deep sofa and chairs, where you could almost tuck in for the night, hand reading lamps and things to read. That I liked.

Next came the living room. Here the children are again remembered. They cannot demand too easily the driftwood furniture with soft cushions on the plastic lounge and the club sofa. These places were formerly in their play room in their place next door, but Mary Ann says they must serve until the children are old enough to appreciate the value of period pieces with velvet and satin upholstery.

The comfortable chairs and sofas (one chaise longue, the other flamingo), are arranged to watch television. The walls are done in pinehurst green, except the wall you face as you enter from the front which is glenwood gray. The ceilings all over the house are white.

Really, the huge living room serves as dining room also. The living room side has deep, wide, built-in sliding doors, which reveal, when opened, rows of books, lovely figurines, and keep sakes. In the dining area there is a similar closet, where china, crystal and silver pieces are kept. We admired candlelight crystal, gold encrusted. Everywhere I was impressed by the livable atmosphere. Clearly dominating the dining room scene was an unusual dining table, a round drop leaf with a detachable Lazy Susan. This too was of driftwood. Everything is homey and I should think, easy to keep.

From the living room we went down a passageway to the master bedroom, which extends the depth of the house on the east end. The doors and woodwork are natural, the walls melody green, and the furnishings blond maple. The floors over the entire house are rubber tile with color to match each room decor. Scatter rugs are used in the bedroom which has a cozy sitting room area with deep chairs, reading lamps, and coffee table. The bath is done in maroon and gray.

We retraced our way down through the living room and on to the children's rooms on the other end of the house. In Betty's room the walls are camelia pink with pink venetian blinds, over which were draped ruffled blue net curtains. The central overhead light shaded by a flat translucent disc on which favorite nursery characters were portrayed. Betty has her

MAD HATTERS MEET WITH MRS. ROBERT BLAND

Mrs. Robert Bland was hostess Thursday afternoon, October 16, to the Mad Hatters at her home on East Main Street.

Red dahlias and red roses were used in the lovely decorations. Strawberry pie, topped with whipped cream, assorted sandwiches, nuts and coffee were served.

Mrs. Ed Nabors scored high, received a dish garden. Four rubber coasters went to Mrs. Harry Brunson for low. Mrs. Luke Anderson received a bubble vase containing velvet chrysanthemum for cut.

Others playing were Mrs. Ralston Williams, Mrs. J. C. Hines, Mrs. Jimmy Redding, Mrs. Bob Thompson, and Mrs. Ernest Cannon.

WYNN'S RADIO STAFF FETED AT OUT-DOOR SUPPER

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Thompson were hosts to staff members of WYNN Wednesday night, October 15, at their home on Jones Lane.

Tables were set up under the metal top of the out-door kitchen. The steaks were broiled on a combination stove and brick oven fireplace. Hallowe'en decorations were in red and yellow.

The sizzling hot steaks were served with hot red velvet, pickles, French fry potatoes, salad, and a choice of pumpkin and apple pies served in a mode.

Enjoying the delicious supper were Mr. and Mrs. Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Watson, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Brannen, Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Golieb, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Davis, Jim Rick, Charlie Tue-own chest for her toys. Mary Ann bought the chest unfinished. She has done it in natural finish and nursery scene decal make it very pleasing to Betty, and best of all, her name is right on top. She has a deep closet with a chest of drawers inside.

In Ed's room, the walls are apricot. His light fixture differs from Betty's only in the Wild West theme. This applies to his toy chest, which has a cowboy on the front. Ed's room is the prettiest. He has a book case with his favorite books and a record player which just about makes it perfect.

Ed thinks his room is the prettiest. He commented on his rich chocolate brown drapes and yellow venetian blinds. A four year old needs a place for his books and desk for his bookkeeping. How else can a fellow keep up with his naps, bits of stout cord and bottle caps? The children's bath is done in black and white tile. Ed calls it his bath, but he doesn't mind Betty using it. The maid was serving Betty's supper as we visited the kitchen which was done in sunbeam yellow with counter tops matching. The utility room made me practically green-eyed.

The hidden secret of this home is that with a simple twist it can be turned into a duplex. A partition runs down the living room, the den on the east side already has pipes installed for another kitchen, and the electric meters are separate. A partition down the master bedroom makes it identical to a similar closet. That's the reason for the time when the Buster Bowen's decide to build on their lot on College Blvd.

NOVELTY CLUB

On Thursday afternoon, the Novelty Club met at the home of Mrs. C. P. Clayton on Walnut street. The home was attractively decorated with fall flowers and potted plants.

A telegram using the word "Hallowe'en" in the most clever manner was part of the entertainment. Mrs. H. M. Teet's effort was acclaimed the best.

Everyone present won prizes in bings.

On Wednesday evening, October 15, members of the Beta Sigma Phi social sorority entertained their husbands, the husbands, and their husbands at a picnic at the Lehman Franklin Pond.

They served a barbecue chicken supper, after supper games were played.

On Sunday afternoon, the home of Mrs. W. D. Anderson was the scene of a lovely tea honoring the newly pledged Beta Sigma Phi members.

The tea table at one end of the living room was overlaid with a lovely cut work cloth with the silver tea service at one end of the table. At the other end a silver bowl filled with yellow roses and daisies with yellow candles.

The final group of new members include Jerry Cobb (Mrs. John), Peggy Williams (Mrs. Seaman), Laura Margaret Goble (Mrs. LeRoy), Jessie Anderson (Mrs. Clinton), Jackie Times (Mrs. Hank), Mrs. Joe Howard, Mrs. Mavis Banks (Mrs. Deike).

There were 22 of the regular members present.

Mrs. Glenn Jennings and Mrs. Perry Kennedy entertained Tuesday evening, October 21, with a shrimp supper at McKinney's Pond for the members of the K.C.C. social club, and their dates.

The dining room carried out the Hallowe'en theme in decorations, table appointments, and the favors, which were horns and all sorts of black and yellow noise makers. The table was centered with a fruit arrangement with Jack-o'-lanterns down the table.

The girls invited were Misses Jane Morris, Margaret Ann Doherty, Sybil Griner, Jean Street, Ann Beasley, Fay Atkins, Evelyn Jones, Pat Alderman, Bobbie Jean DeLoach, Lynn Smith, Shirley Atkins, and Sylvia Bacon. K.C.C.'s were Robert Stockdale, Gene Newton, Jo Bragg, Glenn Jennings, Guy Freeman, Arthur Forbes, Larry Evans, Bobby Newton, Jimmy Bond, and Perry Kennedy.

ministration. It has now grown to the extent that the city now includes in its budget and sets up $10,970 a year for the program.

Since 1946 the city has purchased land upon which to move the trash from near the cemetery. Machinery was purchased to bury and cover twice a week the trash and garbage as it is collected from homes in the city.

"We take special pride in the city's beautification program. This includes the old and new sections of the cemetery and the city in general. A nursery has been installed and the city grows its azaleas. To date we have planted 1,600 azaleas in the new section of the cemetery and 700 in the old section. This year there are 1,400 large enough to move into the old section to complete the project. We are beautifying the city parks. By next year we will be harvesting 2,500 azaleas a year to set out throughout the city. All this is at very little cost.

cause the funds were not available. "The tax rate of the city has not been increased in the past five years. Think the city can be made to pay for the economic way things have been accomplished by this administration.

"There are other things that have been done—including the creation of a housing authority for which funds have already been allocated.

"The city has been sponsor of the Georgia Power Company's 'Better Home Town Contest' and two years ago we won third place in our classification, last year we moved into second place and we are holding our breath hoping for first place this year. Two years the city has been cited for our safety record... all of which we are proud."

VOLUME XIII—ESTABLISHED MARCH 26, 1937

Contracts are expected to be let in January, 1953, for Statesboro Elementary School Number One, and Statesboro Elementary School Number Two, with contracts for the other new school buildings in the Bulloch County School Building program to be let not later than early spring, including five new buildings for the Negro children of the county, and another new high school building for the white children.

This announcement was made this week by Everett Williams, chairman of the Bulloch County Board of Education and H. P. Womack, county school superintendent.

One of the new elementary school buildings in the first contract letting will be located in the area back of the Bulloch County Hospital, on the property purchased from Dr. Simmons of Statesboro. The other elementary school will be located above the section of the city known as Oliff Heights, in the northwest area of Statesboro.
